

WHAT IS CLAIMED IS:

1. A canopy frame comprising:

a canopy connector and two connecting plates,

the canopy connector having two chambers and two slant bottom blocks,

5 each of the chambers receiving an end portion of the corresponding connecting plate,

a rivet fastening the end portion of the connecting plate and the corresponding canopy connector pivotally, and

10 when the canopy frame is extended, the canopy connector and the corresponding connecting plate are connected slantwise and one of the slant bottom blocks blocks the end portion of the corresponding connecting plate.

2. A canopy frame comprising:

a canopy connector and two connecting plates,

the canopy connector having two chambers and two upright blocks,

15 each of the chambers receiving an end portion of the corresponding connecting plate,

a rivet fastening the end portion of the connecting plate and the corresponding canopy connector pivotally, and

20 when the canopy frame is extended, the canopy connector and the corresponding connecting plate are connected slantwise and one of the upright blocks blocks the end portion of the corresponding connecting plate.